The DIMMER VIEW

by Max Goodwin

Silly Season Noted

'Tis Spring.

It is permissible during the vernal equinox to inject a little foolishness and folderol into the editorial space usually reserved for more serious things.

From a retired newspaper executive, a friend of many years standing, comes some from some material he produced.

He calls it "Stuff and Nonsense."

"The tramp printer blew into the little country town and set several stories for the weekly newspaper. The next day he got drunk and when he made up the paper several stories became confused. After the paper appeared he left town again. He was responsible for several interesting stories where there was a juxtaposition of lines of type.

"One of which was:

"William Smith, the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Josiah Smith, and Miss Lucy Anderson were disposed of at public auction at my farm, one mile east, in the presence of 75 guests, including two mules and 12 head of cattle.

"The Rev. Mr. Jackson tied the nuptial knot for the parties, averaging 1,250 pounds on the hoof. The beautiful home of the bride was decorated with one sulky rake, one feed-grinder and two sets of work harness, nearly new, and just before the ceremony was pronounced, Mandel & Sons' wedding march was rendered by one milch cow, five years old, one Jersey cow and one sheep, who carrying a bunch of bride's roses in her hand, was very beautiful. She wore one light spring-wagon, two crates of apples, three racks of hay, one grindstone of mousseline de soie and trimmed with about 100 bushels of spuds. The bridal couple left yesterday on an extended trip."

ABOUT THE BITTER HALF

We often have though that women are like newspapers:
They both have forms;
They always have the last word;
Back numbers are not usually in much demand;
They are well worth looking at;
They have a great deal of influence;
They carry the news wherever they go;
Every man should have one of his own and not borrow his neighbor's.

A POEM

It's my habit diurnal to scan through my journal
In quest of the world's latest news.
I condone all the pied-lines and overlooked guide lines
Even pardon the editor's views.
A mere transposition leaves my disposition
Unruffled — yes, even serene, and
If marital's spelled martial, I find I'm impartial,
There's so little difference I ween.
But all ills of Pandora can't get my Angora
And start me to gnashing my teeth,
Like those two-column spaces with 10 smiling faces
And only nine names underneath.

By Guess and By Golly

"Government starts huge social programs without any idea of what they will cost in the future.

"It institutes untried, programs nationwide — without experimental efforts in a few areas — and program after program, after immense cost, fall far short of the desired result. No management in business could survive such failures.

"Then there are those sectors of the economy that have been most subject to government regulation. They are usually the areas in the worst condition, such as the postal service, the railroads, the airlines, natural gas and public utilities.

"I will refrain from mentioning New York City as an example of government management."

Executive Committee—Proctor and Gamble.

New Federal Law Implemented

School Tax Increase Due For Lemon Grove

A school tax increase may be on the way as early as this summer and certainly by September 1978 to cover the costs involved with complying to the Federal Education for All Handicapped Act of 1974.

The law mandates educational services for severely handicapped children age 5-15 by September 1977 and a continuation of that program to cover 3-18 year olds by 1978.

Lemon Grove has some 25 severely handicapped children, ages ranging from 3 to 14, at the privately owned Lemon Grove Convalescent Center, 8351 Broadway.

Many of these children currently attend no school.

Responsibility Question

Controversy brewed last week between the county and the Lemon Grove School District as to who would have responsibility.

Dr. Robert Sutton, district superintendent, told the Board of Trustees March 22 the County was trying to force them into providing facilities for these children.

"These are very handicapped students," Sutton told the Board, "Our position is the county should assume the responsibility."

Dr. Sutton explained the cost involved for adapting existing facilities would be high and the District just didn't have the available money.

"The Federal government wents some assurances the law will be complied with," said Sutton, "But the County does not want to accept the responsibility.

"The law states that local districts under 8,000 average daily attendance may shift the responsibility to the county."

Sutton added Lemon Grove and Lakeside are two areas in San Diego County with severely handicapped children not in school. There is a school for them in El Cajon but may not accept Lemon Grove's students.

"The real problem," Dr Sutton reiterated, "is the Cajon Valley district is not interested in taking our 25 students."

County Position Shifted

The County Department finally shifted their position last Monday and accepted responsibility for the handicapped children.

According to Dr. Glen Peirson of the County Education Department, the matter of jurisdiction has been resolved even though the issue of where the money is coming from is still left undecided.

"The matter of who has jurisdiction has been resolved," said Pierson, "The County will have to assume the responsibility."

Funding Confusion

"We're in relatively new territory," said Pierson, "we're trying to identify who should pay.

"There is a good possibility that the County may have to levy a tax over the residency area (Lemon Grove) as early as September 1977 and most certainly by 1978."

Dr. Pierson said it was a possibility the federal government could filter down some program start-up monies for the first year but after that Lemon Grove would be on its own.

"We are still trying to determine the number of students involved and the cost of transporting them to existing facilities," Dr. Pierson explained, "Also we are determining whether and how much state and federal support we can receive."

So far, the position of the Lemon Grove School District is the County should fill the bill.

"The Convalescent Center is a private and profit making institution," Dr. Sutton explained, "We feel it is transitory in nature. We shouldn't have to accept and responsibility."

At CoC Installation

Curran Advises Council to Seek Chamber Input

Dr. Griff Clark, a Lemon Grove veterinarian, was installed as president of the Lemon Grove Chamber of Commerce Saturday night at a catered banquet at the auditorium of St. John of the Cross Catholic church.

Olin Thompson, a hardware retailer was installed as vice president. Carl Lacki, a banker was re-installed at treasurer and Leonard Klein, a stationer, became secretary.

About 60 people attended the affair. New board members Dave Harvey, Bob Holaday, Dr. Peter Shea, Jim Boyd and Dell Lake were also seated.

The program was provided by former mayor of San Diego Frank Curran who also installed the officers. In his talk, he gave advice to the new city council, some of whom were present.

Said Curran, "Council should first get a sharp fiscal auditor — one who knows the tricks of finance. The city clerk must be competent in recarding history, decisions and records. The council should adopt a philosophy that does not patronize small, special interest groups, and the best information and input will come from the local Chamber of Commerce.

Banker Bob Guest was the retiring president. He had served two one-year terms.

City Logo Designer Can Win $50 Bond

A logo (seal) contest is being sponsored by the L.G. Chamber of Commerce.

A $50 Savings Bond will be awarded to the one who designs a logo most representative of Lemon Grove. The prize will be given by Craig Lake.

Simplicity and significance to the city are the guidelines. The logo will be used as the official seal on all awards, city stationery, fire trucks and property of the city.

Deadline is April 19 and exhibits should be turned in at the L.G. CoC office at 3415 Imperial ave., near Broadway.

Chamber officials will judge.

Circus to Aid Shrine Projects

The first circus of the season in San Diego will give performances Monday and Tuesday at Balboa Stadium under auspices of Al Bahr Shrine.

The 2½-hour show will be presented at 2 and 8 p.m. both days.

Prior to the Monday evening performance a 45-minute program of Shrine pageantry will be presented.

Circus acts include Gerrero's High-Wire Wizards working without a net; Eloise Berchtold, wild-animal trainer, two sets of trained chimpanzees and others.

Tickets are $2 for children; $4 for adults. Seniors will be given a discount of $1 if they acquire tickets at the Senior Citizens Center in San Diego.

Proceeds from the circus go to Shrine Childrens' Home and Burn Centers.

Trucker Loses Tools

Richard F. Nare, a self employed water trucker, told sheriff's deputies that tools were taken from a box mounted on his truck Thursday night while he was in his residence.

4 Girls Sign For 'Miss LG' '77 Contest

Deadline nears for Lemon Grove beauties who would be the first "Miss City of Lemon Grove".

The girl chosen this year will become important in the history of the new city since her name will come up each time the city's history is reviewed.

Deadline is April 15 and the contest is April 23. Application blanks may be obtained at the CoC office at 3415 Imperial ave.; the office of this newspaper at 7834 Lester ave., and at Dell Enterprises, 7917 Broadway.

The contest will be at the L.G. Junior High school at Lincoln and School lane at 7:30 p.m. Craig Lake is chairman and m.c. of the event. So far, only four girls have signed up, Lake said.

Contestants must be 17 years of age on or before June 21 and not over 21 by that date. There is no fee involved in the contest.

Councilmen Set Thursday For BiWeekly Meetings

Four members of the new city council were present at the regular meeting of the L.G. Fire Protection District board of directors Monday night.

Three councilmen serve on the fire board. They are Jim Dorman, Dr. Bob Burns and Dell Lake. Pastor Dale Bailey was there but Jack Doherty was absent due to professional commitments.

The council discussed matters that they properly could following the fire meeting.

Council members reported that a liaison officer has been temporarily assigned to the council. He is Tom Parks, executive assistant of the County Integrated Planning Office. Parks said Tuesday his relation with the council would be "intense" until July 1 at which time the council may officially meet. "I will be associated with the council until July 1, 1978 but in a less intense relationship," he said.

Parks noted that the council now is in only an advisory position to the board of supervisors. They cannot tranact business nor spend money. They cannot commit the city to anything that would be paid after July 1, he said.

At Monday's meeting it was decided that local parks and the Youth Center would be decded to the new city on July 1, 1978.

Another interesting revelation was that two councilmen —Bailey and Doherty, would have to seek re-election in March 1978 — just 8 months after the election. And that the other three would be up for re-election in the following even-numbered year — 1980 — after serving two years and 8 months.

The councilmen agreed to meet every other Thursday night beginning April 7, at 8 o'clock at the L.G. Fire Station.

It was also decided the July 1 meeting — the first official one — would be ceremonial. It is expected that officials and politicians of various jurisdictions would want to attend.

And to correct just one other bit of misinformation, the Lemon Grove Fire Protection District will be dissolved in November, 1977 rather than July 1, 1978.

L.G. City Council Looks Good In First Public Exposure

Five city councilmen presented themselves for public scrutiny Friday at a luncheon at Skandia.

The five — Jim Dorman, Dr. Robert Burns, Dell Lake, Jack Doherty and Pastor Dale Bailey — appeared to be in agreement that there was a lot of work to be done and that the tasks could be undertaken without preconceived animosity.

Dorman, who was given more votes than any other, and who is likely to be mayor, spelled out some of the problems the elected group faces.

"The County Board of Supervisors has named us Advisory to the Board with most communications regarding certain actions required by law to be accomplished through a liaison representative of the Board," Dorman said.

On Monday Supervisors appointed Tom Parks, executive assistant, County Integrated Planning Office, as temporary liaison officer.

The liaison relation will last 15 months since the County is providing services for the fiscal year in which the community becomes a city. Cityhood comes officially on July 1, this year when tax refunds are scheduled to go into the city coffers but county services will be provided without charge for the full year in which the city was formed.

A tidy bank account should be available by the time Lemon Grove has to start paying for all services as of July 1, 1978.

Dorman listed some of the matters the council will face when it meets with Parks.

"When we are sworn in on July 1," he said, "we should have an idea who our city manager will be. We'll have to acquire liability insurance for the board and surety bonds for certain employees.

"We'll have to establish interim zoning, in line with the County Code and we'll have to choose a newspaper to publish legal notices.

"We will want to adopt an official seal and arrange to deposit funds that will be collected by the city from the state. These are funds now collected and kept by the county for use county-wide.

"We'll have no immediate funds for some of the expenses so we must arrange to borrow, probably from San Diego County.

"Police and traffic control service will be matters of council concern. And so will the acquisition of two or three offices that will be needed for the personnel required to carry out the instructions of the council," Dorman said.

Meeting dates, times and place will have to be decided.

Each of the councilmen seemed to fit well with the other four and that suggested that the operation would not start with a clash of personalities.

The L.G. Chamber of Commerce sponsored the no-host luncheon. Bob Guest presided.

The Ford Story

Rich as he was, Henry Ford never drove a Cadillac. He brought out his Model T car in 1908.

There's An Answer

By Mr. and Mrs.
Norman Vincent Peale

Depressed over sons' lifestyles

Q. My husband and I have to fight to keep from being depressed and bitter over our sons' lifestyles.

One is getting a divorce while living with another woman, another is living with a girl while finishing graduate school. A third son has completed his education and seems unable to get himself settled into a decent job.

We have just been sick because we have lived a very respectable life. The whole family was always active in church. But now our sons have nothing to do with religion. I seems to me I have somehow failed.

My sons are sort of my contribution to the world, and I have somehow not instilled decent moral values in them. Can you offer any help or suggestions?

A. A mother must realize that she is an individual and as such has the responsibility of living her own life. You gave birth to these boys. You did all you could to train them in right principles.

You must not berate yourself because of the out-of-it life style. Maybe what they need is to have it rough. And if they have anything in them, it may make men of them.

Put them in God's hands; pray for them; life your own life.

Rejected since her divorce

Q. Many years ago I was the third party in the breakup of a marriage. I realize I was stupid and selfish, but who knows why young people get off the track?

We married and moved many miles away. After nearly 20 years he decided he wanted his freedom again. How can I deal with the rejection and not let it erode my own behavior toward others?

A. One thing is sure, the wrongs we do ultimately catch up with us. Break up a marriage and in the long run it can break you up.

However, if you show that you have character, that you can take it and carry on, that you intend to do the right thing by everybody, you can eventually regain the respect and good will of your ephemeral friends.

The more real and honest you are, the more highly you will be esteemed by the local people.

Clergyman has emotional problem

Q. After 24 years in the ministry I have had to retire at 45 years of age because of emotional problems.

I am full of fear. I can't get in my car and drive 19 miles to the next town because of this fear. I have not sinned, and I'm not running from the law. I don't know what my fear is about except I can't stand to be alone.

I've been much worse since my brother died. We were real close. My wife can't understand this, but she has been the most wonderful person in the world to put up with me. Can you give me any advice

A. You need psychological help to eradicate your fear. Fear starts somewhere and for some reason It is a growth in the mind.

A competent counselor can run that fear back to its source and expose it to you. When you understand it and see it for what it is, you can then exorcise it.

If you do not start on a curative process, this fear will grow increasingly strong. Use your religious faith. Remember what the Psalm says: "I sought the Lord and he heard me, and delivered me from all my fears."

We have a booklet, OVERCOMING ANXIETY AND FEAR, which has helped others with problems such as yours, and a copy of it is on its way to you. Anyone reading this column who wishes a free copy may write for one. Address your request to Dr. and Mrs. Peale, Box 500, Pawling, NY 12564.

Perhaps you would like to find an answer for yourself to a problem that you can share with others in THERE'S AN ANSWER! If there is something you want to ask Dr. and Mrs. Peale to discuss in this column, write to them in care of Boxx 500, Pawling, NY 12564.

Christians Meet in Amsterdam

First World Congress Hits On Human Rights Issue

Religious liberty and human rights have been linked together by speakers at the First World Congress on Religious Liberty.

Meeting in Amsterdam, the Netherlands, the Congress is comprised of more than 300 representatives from 30 nations and opened formally March 22.

Speaking before the Congress, the Director of the United Nations Commission on Human Rights, Theo C. Van Boven said no distinction between human rights and religious liberty could be made.

"Religious liberty as one of the fundamental human rights can never be separated from the broader spectrum of human rights," said Van Boven.

Van Boven cited the League of Nations, Franklin Roosevelt's "four freedoms", the UN adoption of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights in 1948, and the 1966 United Nations adoption of the International Covenants on Human Rights as the four landmarks in the area.

World Council of Churches General Secretary, Dr. Philip A. Potter, urged involvement of religious organizations in all areas touching the exercise of freedom. He noted problem areas in Brazil, Argentina, South Korea, and Uganda, and in his list included both Eastern and Western Europe and North America.

"Religious liberty includes the right and duty of religious bodies to criticize the ruling powers when necessary, on the basis of religious conviction," said Potter who represents some 250 churches in 90 countries, including most of the major Protestant and Eastern Orthodox denominations, "In today's world it is this element in religious liberty which is most violently contested by the state authorities and other power interests."

Last week ,President William R. Tolbert of Liberia said worshipers were entitled to protection of the law.

"All persons demeaning themselves peaceably and not obstructing others in their religious worship are entitled to the protection of the law in the free exercise of their own religion," the President of Liberia told the Congress, "No sect of Christians shall have exclusive privileges or preference over any other sect, but all shall alike be tolerated and no religious test whatever shall be required as a qualification for civil office, or the exercise of any civil right."

Religious Drama Scheduled For Local Church Thursday

"Even tho' we sympathize with him, it became our sacred duty to do this terrible thing".

"The Terrible Meek" a one act drama, will be performed at 7:30 p.m. on April 7 in the sanctuary of the United Church of Christ, 2770 Glebe road.

The theme for the Maundy Thursday drama is the conflict of might versus right or duty versus conscience.

The story depicts 2 soldiers and the mother of Christ at the foot of the cross waiting for the long night to end. They share their horrors about what has happened and ponder the meaning of the event.

Ken Rodriguez, who is directing the drama, plays the part of the officer who is tired of the senseless slaughter which is a consistent part of his life as a soldier.

While he was a student at Grossmont High School, Ken played the role of Jesus in the musical production of "Godspell".

Debbie Rodriguez performs the role of Mary, the mother of Christ. A 1976 graduate of Mount Miguel High School, she recently returned from France where she had spent a term in a French-speaking school.

Rick Rodriguez, her bother, is currently a senior at Mount Miguel High School. He has performed as a musician in dramatic productions. Both have been active in the Human Relations Workshops at Mount Miguel.

New Canine Guide Presented To Spring Valley Woman

Ceremonies will be held Saturday presenting Mrs. Joyce Wagner, 9109 Barneveld st., Spring Valley, with a new found friend, guide dog Ramona.

The four week training course at Guide Dogs for the Blind is designed to show the blind person how to work together with guide dogs as a well-coordinated team. Each dog receives six months of schooling when approximately 15 months old and is tested in heavy traffic by a licensed instructor under blindfold before being considered ready to serve a blind master.

The dogs are individually selected for each class member to insure best possible match in size and temperament.

The school provides both the guide-dog and the in-residence training as a free service to the blind. For the past 35 years the school has been supported strictly via contributions.

Sea and Surf On Fleet Screen

Some wonders of undersea life are explored in "Ocean," a new Omnimax film which starts tonight at the Reuben H. Fleet Space Theater. Underwater scenes of a huge school of squid, a herd of California sea lions, and a giant octopus are dramatic and exciting, yet the cameraman's narration of the sequence has some humor.

The film also explores life at the surface with color coverage of the rugged Oregon coast, a demonstration of a surf rescue by a U. S. Coast Guard cutter, and a segment on Grey whales of Cataline Island.

Also included, is new footage of a Beluga whale at Sea World, San Diego, and research activity in the experimental tanks at the Scripps Aquarium Museum, La Jolla.

"Ocean," the first Omnimax film to cover such a range of subjects, was produced and directed by Braeme Ferguson under contract with the Space Theater.

The time machine take an outer-space viewer backwards in time to see Earth when dinossaurs roamed over 90 million years ago. It also takes a viewer on Earth so far backward in time he can see the faint aftermath of the explosion that might have been the beginning of the Universe.

This Week's RECIPE

French Omelet For Easter Morning

Weight Watchers have come up with a low-calorie idea which won't turn this Easter into a calorie disaster.

It's called an Easter Brunch French Omelet and is great for greeting the morning.

FRENCH OMELET

4 eggs, separated
⅛ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon salt
¼ cup water
"French sauce"

Beat egg yolks and pepper until mixture is thick and lemon colored. Add salt and water to egg whites, beat until still but not dry. Fold egg yolks into whites. Pour mixture into a preheated teflon skillet. Cook over low heat until puffy and mixture is lightly browned on bottom, about 5 minutes. Bake at 325 degrees F for 12 to 15 minutes or until knife inserted in center comes out clean. Fold omelet in half, top with "French Sauce".

FRENCH SAUCE

½ bay leaf
3 peppercorns
1 teaspoon hot sauce
2 tablespoons pepper flakes
3 cups tomato juice
2 tablespoons celery flakes
2 tablespoons dehydrated onion flakes
1 tablespoon parsley flakes
2 tablespoons lemon juice
2 tablespoons vinegar
8 oz. cooked shrimp, diced.

Combine bay leaf, peppercorns, hot sauce, and tomato juice in saucepan, cook uncovered until mixture is reduced by one half volume. Remove from heat, add remaining ingredients, cook over very low heat for tem minutes until mixture is heated.

Bob Skinner's Return May Be Big Padre Aid

Sitting on the bench and being away from the heat of battle on the field will be a new experience for the San Diego Padres new coach Bob Skinner, but yet, it just might be the most important move the Padres have made in the coaching department in the last few years.

Back aboard after having spent the 1974-76 campaigns on the coaching staff of the Pittsburgh Pirates under manager Danny Murtaugh, "Skins" will be the Padres hitting instructor this season on a fulltime basis. That is, he won't have to worry about other tasks such as coaching either at first or third base. His sole responsibility is to get the Padres bats untracked.

"I think I'm going to like the way we've got this thing structured," said Skinner who was first with the Padres back in the years of 1970-73. "Doing this type of work is certainly nothing new to me, but the way we'll be handling it this season is a little different.

"In years past, I've always served as the hitting instructor and a base coach at the same time," the 45-year-old resident of Pacific Beach said. "You aren't overworked holding down two jobs. so to speak, but you really can't do justice to working with the hitters if you are out on the bases."

A valid point, indeed, since the mind of the coach usually has more "important" things to be concerned with during the course of a game than keeping an eye on the individual hitters at the plate. In a way it's like the old story about keeping one eye on the base runners, one eye on the bench and one eye on the batter.

"Being in the dugout and not in the coaching box will really be a plus for the whole concept of having a hitting instructor," Skinner explained. "By doing it this way you can devote full time to study the hitters and pitchers, for that matter, and help them out. You have no worries about base runners, counts on the batter, depth of the outfielders and so on. Coaching either first or third base is a fulltime job and you can't have other things on your mind."

To make the plan work, then, the Padres have actually increased the size of their coaching staff by one as the club also brought on board Don Williams (San Diego's coordinator of instruction on the minor league level for the past few years) to handle the first base coaching chores while veteran Joe Amalfitano will again be at third base.

Lacroix Breaks 100 To Make WHA History

Center Andre Lacroix, team captain of the San Diego Mariners and the club's leading scorer is a model of consistency. Since he entered the World Hockey Assn. in 1972-73, he has never score less than 100 points in any season.

1976-77 was not an exception as the talented center scored points numbers 99 and 100 Saturday night against the Calgary Cowboys to help pace the Mariners to a 4-2 victory and the fourth victory in a row for coach Ron Ingram and his troops.

Lacroix now has scored 583 points in the his five year WHA career (thru games of Sunday, March 27). That figure is the most points scored by any individual in the history of the league. Andre also has tallied 402 assists, also a league record.

Lacroix has also not missed a single game of play during his WHA career. Going into action Thursday, he has played 390 consecutive WHA games.

A preview of a possible post-season playoff series is scheduled for the Sports Arena tonight when the Winnipeg Jets come to town. Paced by Bobby Hull and high scoring center Anders Hedberg, the Jets will battle the Mariners in a 7:30 p.m. faceoff.

After the game with Winnipeg, three more of the toughest teams in the WHA will help the Mariners finish out the regular season.

Saturday, the Cincinnati Stingers, currently holding down second place in the WHA East will tangle with the Mariners. Then on Sunday, local fans will be able to view the highest scoring player in the league, Real Cloutier. The Quebec Nosdiques 21-year old scoring sensation will display his talents (already over 130 points and counting) for San Diego fans for the final time this season.

Chargerettes With 'California Look' Sought in Contest

The 1977 Chargerettes will have that "California Look." That is what officials will be looking for when they begin interviewing young ladies to serve as cheer leaders.

The Chargers and radio KCBQ are sponsoring a contest to choose 24, according to Tank Younger, assistant general manager of the Chargers and Russ Wittenberger, general manager of KCBQ.

The contest will be conducted with trials in San Diego Stadium beginning at 10 a.m. Saturday, April 23, and 10 a.m. Sunday, April 24. Finals will be held beginning at 6 p.m. Monday, May 2, in the Olympus Room of Atlantis Restaurant.

Charlie and Harrigan, KCBQ's popular morning disc jockey team, will be on the selection committee.

Contestants will be judged on poise, appearance, personality, dancing and communicative ability.

The contest is open to all girls who will be 18 years old as of May 1, 1977, and who will have completed their high school education by July 1, 1977.

Applications may be obtained beginning Friday at all Dean's Photo Service locations throughout the county, at the Chargers' ticket office (Gate E, San Diego Stadium), and at KCBQ, 9416 Mission Gorge rd., Santee.

TAKE FIVE

by John E. Wirges

There might be a rough spot here and there on the surface, but inside, in his heart and soul, Craig Stadler has grown fullsize to manhood. The Jeans and "T" shirt kid from La Jolla High is a downright, high-polish gentleman.

Stadler busies himself these days chasing the sun on the Professional Golf Tour where only the talented and chosen are blessed with passage. He's a first year golf pro.

He stands in the brightness and promise of a new morning as he steps to the quickened pace of professional success and public adoration. Life is good to Craig. Greatness is before him.

Unlike so many of those who passed through the challenge to success and high finance before him however, Craig Stadler remembers who he is, where he came from and how he got there.

And it isn't a new side of him turned to public view. He's always had the gentle gift of being himself. Like when he won the U.S. Amateur title, back in 1973.

Craig was pursuing knowledge and polishing his golfing skills under the wise coaching of Stan Wood at the University of Southern California under the conditions of an NCAA scholarship. For pocket money, Craig worked early mornings picking up balls at a local golf driving range.

In the early summer of his sophomore year, Craig went off and won the U.S. Amateur crown and his employer figured he had better do his own picking up for a week or so until Craig rolled off cloud nine.

So, the boss rolled out the morning after Stadler won the Amateur title and hustled down to the driving works at 5 a.m. to get ready for the day's doings. There was Craig picking up balls as if nothing had happened. He had a job to do and he was doing it.

That was just a sign of things to come. An early showing that when manhood settled on Craig's shoulders, it would come in abundance.

Craig began playing golf somewhere around the age of five. "I don't remember ever NOT playing golf," is the way he put it.

And much of his interest and love for the game stems from the gentle and caring hands that scored prodded and sometimes disciplined him, as he grow from child-to-boy-to-man in the San Diego Junior Golf Association.

Craig's parents, Don and Betty Stadler, watched with pride as their husky son learned his craft and earned the respect and affection of Junior Golf folks.

Craig wrote a letter to Jr. Golf Director Mrs. A. S. (Lou) Smith a few weeks ago that reflects the strong bond between them.

"Dear Lou," he wrote. "I hope everything is going well with you and the Junior Golf Association. I will never forget the times I had as a Junior golfer. Some bad, but 99.9 per cent very good. I feel very proud to be a product of San Diego's Junior Golf program, which is, by far, the best program in the country.

"I feel I owe all of my success to the JGA, and although I realize this check is not much, I hope it will be helpful toward starting some other youngster on the road to a successful golf career.

"I know I will be able to contribute more later on, hopefully in many ways, for I feel generated toward expanding the association which was so helpful to me.

"The very best wishes for an extra-successful year in 1977 . . . believe me, the fondest of memories will be with me where ever I go."

Craig's check for $250 will sponsor trophies for improved play among junior golfers this campaign. The first three touraments tee up during Easter week. There'll be 27 or so more before summer's end.

And a fine example of young America showing the way.

Former Tee Champs Plan Old-Time Clinic April 12

RANCRO DA COSTA — Tuesday, April 12, will be Nostalgia Day at the La Costa Resort Hotel, Spa and Country Club.

Tournament chairman Allard Roen announced that 15 former winners, plus 31 current qualifiers, will help commemorate the Silver Anniversary of the MONY Tournament of Champions with an old fashioned clinic and exhibition. Once a standard feature at major tournaments, the clinics and exhibitions are a rarity these days.

Former champions include La Jolla's Gene Littler (1955-56-67), Jack Nicklaus (1963-64-71-73), Arnold Palmer (1962-65-66), Al Besselink (1953), Art Wall Jr. (1954), Stan Leonard (1958), Mike Souchak (1959), Jerry Barber (1960), Sam Snead (1961), Frank Beard (1967-70), Don January (1968-76), Gary Player (1969), Bobby Mitchell (1972), Johnny Miller (1974) and Al Geiberger (1975).

The 25th annual $225,000 MONY Tournament of Champions, which offers a $45,000 first prize, will be played April 14-17.

January, the defending champion, is among the current qualifiers with Nicklaus, Geiberger and Miller. Only winners of major tournaments in the last 12 months are eligible.

Other top qualifiers are Lee Trevino, Dave Stockton, Tom Watson, Raymond Floyd, Ben Crenshaw, Rik Massengale, Lee Elder, Dave Hill, Buddy Allin, Roger Maltbie, J. C. Snead and Aussie David Graham.

Among the best rookies are U. S. Open Champion Jerry Pate, leading money winner Bruce Lietzke, Mark Hayes, winner of the Tournament Players Championship, and Gary Koch.

Pate and Hayes are the only three-time winners in the field, while Lietzke and Koch have won twice.

Nostalgia Day is a bonus for season ticket holders. Season tickets, which include free daily parking for six days, cost only $24, a savings of $14.

Preseason daily tickets are $4 each for Tuesday and Wednesday, $5 Thursday and Friday and $7 Saturday and Sunday. Tickets purchased at the gate are $1 more each day.

11-Mile Course Tests Racers for AMA Titles

RIVERSIDE — The forerunner of a national motorcycle grand prix championship has attracted the largest field of 1977 — nearly 2,000 riders — to the Great Bear Grand Prix, which will be held at Riverside International Raceway Saturday and Sunday.

Pre-entered are such diverse stars as A.M.A. Camel Pro Series star Dave Aldana of Santa Ana, SCORE Baja 1000 winner Larry Roeseler of Bloomington, desert racing champion A. C. Bakken of Oceanside, Class A speedway rider Jim Fishback of Fontana, who is a three-time Great Bear winner, and women's moto-cross promoter Kasey Rogers of Encino, one of nearly 200 women entered.

For the first time the sponsoring Orange County Motorcycle Club moved to Riverside when the street of Elsinore were closed to its famed grand prix, there will be a Western Regional AMA championship at stake, as well as titles in AMA Districts 37 and 38. Combined with another race in Illinois, a national championship event is expected to emerge, according to race organizer Jim Kilpatrick.

The 11.2-mile course presents the riders with three awesome water hazards, a 30-foot cliff to jump off and a variety of more than a score of other obstacles. To win, the rider must demonstrate the skills of the TT steeplechase, motocross, desert racing and road racing.

Each of the four 100-mile races, two each day at 9 a.m. and 1 p.m. will consist of nine laps over both pavement and dirt surface.

It's more than the total sold all of last year, she said.

The Breakers will play all of its 18 home games at Golden Hall in the S.D. Convention Center. Season tickets are $64-$80 for the 18 games.

Reigning beauty of the team, Roseanne Wegrich returns to the back court. Bill Waldrop has signed as player-coach.

Rated first in the nation by VOLLEYBALL MAGAZINE, the UCLA Bruins will meet fourth-seeded San Diego State in the first night's feature match.

Swap Meet Opens For Nautical Items

A unique nautical swap meet will be held every weekend at the San Diego Sports Arena beginning Saturday and Sunday.

The nautical swap meet will specialize in marine equipment and supplies offered for sale by the public. Promoter, Bob Phelps , was barraged with requests by water sports enthusiasts and boat owners to provide additional space at his weekly swap meet to allow the public to sell or swap nautical gear and boats.

The Sports Arena, located to nearby water sports recreation centers such as Mission Bay, Sea World, Harbor and Shelter Island marinas and coastal beaches, will provide the market place for general public to buy and sell their surplus fishing poles and gear, scuba and diving equipment, surf boards, boats, both sail and power.

The Padres In Yuma

Last weekend was the big one in Yuma. It was the time of the annual "migration" of Padre fans into Arizona from San Diego.

The San Diego Hot Stove League turned out in force again. Additionally, the Madres (the Padres women's boosters organization) was out in force.

Members of the San Diego Sportscasters / Sportswriters had a delegation there during the week-end as did several fraternal groups.

Growing popularity of the Padres has been in evidence not only in San Diego but also across the border in Tijuana. The Padres Spanish language radio station XEXX has been able to put together a special package and will be broadcasting the first four games of the season from Cincinnati. This marks the first time the station has done road games other than Los Angeles or San Francisco.

It figures that if anyone should know anything about eggs on the Padres ball club it would be third baseman Doug Rader, the "Red Rooster". In keeping with the McDonald's theme, Rader figures it's only right that a morning breakfast of eggs should be referred to as an order of cackle burgers.

The Padres will be standing pat with uniform designs for the first time in a couple of seasons. San Diego will again be in all white at home with the brown and yellow shirts and white pants on the road.

The Padres open the season in Cincinnati on April 6.

Fair 'Shake'

Dear Editor:

We would like to express appreciation to you and the Lemon Grove Review for your objective presentation of information about candidates and issues in the recent school board election.

Your coverage was fair, accurate, and timely. As information is the catalyst that enables democracy to succeed, your role was indispensible in enabling voters to make informed judgments.

Lemon Grove is a better place to live because of the valuable community service your newspaper performs.

Too, it was refreshing to see the large number of candidates willing to give of their time and energy in what is sometimes a thankless job.

We hope this same spirit of community concern will become characteristic of community-school relations and will result in an even better school system for our city.

Sincerely,
Harry G. Weisberger,
Chairman, Action for Schools Committee

FURNITURE MANUFACTURERS are manufacturers and retailers of their popular California furniture line — new "old" furniture. Their furniture is brushed-textured grain furniture reflecting the halcyon days of the Golden West."

Native America Etched in Furniture Manufactured By Newest L.G. Store

By Frank Mangio

In the East, they can hardly wait to get their hands on anything western. In Europe, Americans are those hardy fellows cut from the John Wayne mold. The native American culture is Western, and Rick Carter and Jim Frey believe that when it comes to furniture they could have found the native American look in their California Country Furniture.

The owners have recently opened a large retail store at Broadway and Olive in Lemon Grove and will hold their grand opening Saturday, with entertainment, a wall-unit giveaway, and a wine and cheese party.

The name California Country Furniture is really not their idea. At a sales event they attended at a hotel in San Diego, a lady came rushing up to them explaiming "is this that country furniture I've been hearing about?" It was then that Carter and Frey knew they were on to something akin to the blue-jeans of the furniture world.

What makes the furniture attractive is its rugged good looking hardy appearance. You literally cannot hurt it. You can beat it up, and a little stain in the right place, and it still looks good. The secret is the burning technique.

Propane gas is used to heat and char the furniture, raising the grain and texturing it. The finisher then runs a wire brush over it, getting rid of the char and bringing out the beauty of the rings in the wood. All the lumber used is new, with three coats of polyurethane varnish producing its final, hearty country look.

Most of the designs are their own, but California Country Furniture can refine a customer's own design, and they do some custom work. Carter and Frey began in Lemon Grove in 1976 as a furniture manufacturing business, but the volume was so great they set up the retail store and added stained glass and mirrored wallplanters to the inventory of locally manufactured products.

The store setting is one of the more unique in the area. It is a series of six large rooms representing a section of the California lifestyle or landscape. The living room is San Francisco, the den Los Angeles, the children's room the desert, the dining room Northern California wine country, the bedroom the beach area, the game room mountain setting; the kitchen will carry the latest utensils and will be "funky."

B of A Stats Show More $ Needed For Homes

Home loans have increased more than 27 per cent in 1976 studies by Bank of America shows.

The Bank found it had made some $2.2 billion worth of loans for single-family dwellings, residential income properties, and other income properties during 1976. The Bank lent $1.7 billion during 1975.

George H. Haley, senior vice president for real estate said the figures represent record volume and added "the exceptional demand is continuing into 1977.

The bank cited the demand for credit rather than inflation of prices as the reason for the increase.

Dr. Helen Ranney of the U.C. S.D. Medical School will address the Friday Forum of the Institute for Continued Learning at 10 a.m. tomorrow on room 111A, Mathews Campus, UCSD. Her topic will be "Problems in Health Manpower."

The meeting is open to the public.

Senate Bill May Require Descriptions Of Defects On Houses Sold by Brokers

SACRAMENTO — Legislation is pending in the California Senate which would require real estate dealers to give "diagnostic descriptions" of the homes they sell.

The legislation, sponsored by Senator Nicholas C. Petris (D-Oakland), would require real estate dealers to tell potential home buyers; —defects in the major components or appliances including leaky roofs, bad plumbing, defective heating and air conditioning system defects.

—uncorrected health or building code violations

—full market value of land and improvements as shown of the last available county tax roll.

—warranties on the property

—the existence of any water or energy conservation devices

—the condition of the septic tank and disposal system

—the zoning of the property

—and the loans and liens on the property.

"Buyers who do not use a real estate broker often mistakenly assume that the seller's agent is representing their interest," said Petris. "This bill should help avoid those misunderstandings that create ill feeling toward real estate agents."

If passed, the measure would apply to offers to purchase single-family dwellings made on and after January 1, 1978.

Huge List of Dog Owners Get Delinquency Notices

Owners of more than 25,000 dogs are getting reminders from the tax collector this week that they have not returned license renewal applications mailed to them in December.

February 28 was the last day for renewing, without a $2 late fee, licenses which expired the end of December.

Although most of these owners have failed to renew expired licenses, County Tax Collector James E. Jones said some of them may not really be delinquent in buying licenses.

Every year a number of people fail to return the renewal applications with notation that they long longer own the dog listed, that the dog has died or that they applied for a new license on forms they got from their veterinarian when the dog was revaccinated.

Jones said owners of previously licensed dogs should take their renewal applications with them when they get their dogs vaccinated.

"It's time consuming to match up computer-printed lists of dogs named 'Fred' and 'Princess' with applications for new licenses," Jones explained, but he said his office tries to do this so people who have bought new licenses won't get delinquent notices. Even so, a few paid accounts will be turned over to the county's animal control department.

Expired licenses which have not been renewed will be referred to animal control on April 18 unless the tax collector has been notified that the dog has moved from the collection area or has died.

License fees are $6 for one year for male or spayed dogs or $10 for two years. Rates for unspayed females are $12 and $20.

The tax collector handles licenses for dogs housed in unincorporated areas of the county and the cities of San Diego, Del Mar, Carlsbad, San Marcos, Vista and Imperial Beach and soon, the new City of Lemon Grove.

Dog owners can call 236-3171 for licensing information.

State Places Workers

California's State Employment offices in San Diego County made a total of 2,043 job placements in February, it was reported by the Employment Development Department (EDD). This was 10.4 per cent increase over the January placement total of 1,851 and a 38.0 per cent increase over the number placed in February 1976, which 1,480.

In the fiscal year to date (October through February), EDD has made 10,365 placements, compared with 7,678 placements in the same period a year earlier. This represents an increase of 35.0 per cent.

Total placements made by the Department in San Diego County from October 1975 through September 1976 totaled 28,638.

A UC San Diego Extension course gives environmental studies credit for a four day montaineering study trek through Yosemite National Park.

The fee is $150 and includes dormitory accommodations, meals, equipment and instructions. Participants should be in good physical condition, but do not need to know how to cross country ski.

Life of Bureaus Should be Dated Says Tom Suitt

SACRAMENTO — Legislation intended to give citizens greater authority over the continuation of tax-levying governmental entities has been introduced by Assemblyman Tom Suitt.

"Bureaucracies have a way of getting started and never ending. What I'm hopeful of implementing is a system by which the people who foot the bills will have the final say concerning the lifespan of the public service they're buying," Suitt said.

Suitt's measure relates to county service areas, which presently can be established by a resolution of a board of supervisors. Under present law, those service areas which did not impose a property tax in either 1971-72 or 1972-73 must go to the voters to fix a rate.

Suitt's legislation, however, would after July 1, 1978, prohibit imposition of a county service area tax rate unless the petition establishing the area or the tax rate itself had been approved by a vote of the people.

Rates Up on Air-Cal

Rates on Air California routes will be going up 45 cents to offset the company's higher cost of fuel.

Largest Ridership West of Nation's Capitol

San Diegan Rail Service Hailed a Success, Expands

SACRAMENTO — Caltrak's San Diego to Los Angeles rail passenger services will be continued and expanded starting April 24.

The service completed a six month test period March 11 and by recommendatioins by the California Department of Transportation the service will be extended.

State Transportation Director Adriana Gianturco said over 250,000 rode the San Diegan during the past six months and during the past year nearly a half a million people got on board.

"The rail service has been so successful that it will be continued and expanded with new daily round trip services starting April 24," said Gianturco, "Ridership is growing at such a rate that another train is needed just to meet the demand."

"We at Caltrans," she continued, "are encouraged that Californians are taking to the rails in such numbers. When we started this experiment, many people said that it would never work, that Californians preferred auto travel. Now we have the most heavily used rail line west of Washington, D.C."

Beginning at the end of April, trains will leave San Diego for Los Angeles at about two to three hour intervals at an average of five round trips daily. Hours will be from 7 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Tourists Lose Clothes In Grove Laundry

Two tourists from New Hampshire and a local man filed a joint complaint with the sheriff's office Thursday after clothing they had left in an unattended dryer in a local pay laundry had been taken.

Harry Stephen Geoge of 3265 Buena Vista, and P. A. Drinkwater and M. A. Tamposi, both of Nashua N.H. said the total loss was $400.

They left the laundry at 7775 Broadway to attend to other matters. When they returned about 9:30 p.m. they discovered the loss.

PUC Gives Nod to SDG&E To Bury County Power Lines

LOS ANGELES — The California Public Utilities Commission approved March 22 an expenditure of nearly $34 million in 1977 by three major electric utilities to convert overhead distribution lines to underground.

The PUC approved a $7.297 million plan by San Diego Gas and Electric to bury their lines.

It also approved a $14 million plan by Pacific Gas and Electric and a $12.5 million plan by Southern California Edison.

The PUC has been approving plans to bury lines since 1968. Conversion takes place only after local government declares an area to be an underground district.

The allocations approved amount to about $12.33 per customer for SDG&E.
